

Time and time again K-Love radio station has served as an encouragement to me and my teenage sons when we are struggling with life's issues or just having a bad day.

If this station or other christian stations like it are taken away, we would have to resort to listening to stations that will not provide any type of spiritual encouragement. A strong, godly foundation is extremely important for the moral development of my family especially my teenage sons who will soon become young adults. I feel it assists my children in the positive contribution they will soon make to their community and nation. It takes a village to raise our children and I consider christian radio stations as part of the village that contributes to the moral development of our children.
